WILD BEASTS HIS FRIENDS.

The Queer Stories Told About a Pioneer Washington Rancher.

Among the visitors to Seattle the past week was Peter Gallagher, a rancher living three miles from Renton. Mr. Gallagher is one of the pioneers of the sound country, and has lived on the same place for twenty years or more, taking up a quarter section as a homestead from the government. By years of hard toil he has cleared up and improved a splendid place, which, though secluded from the outside world, is a model ranch, of which the owner is justly proud.

Mr. Gallagher is not given to hunting and does not molest wild game of any kind, and to this may be ascribed the tame ness of a number of animals which make the woods in that vicinity a home. One of these, a black bear, has for a year visited his stockyard almost daily and eaten with the cattle, lying down among the calves and displaying neither fear nor ferocity.

Mr. Gallagher goes among the stock and frequently passes within two or three feet of his bearship, not only in the yard but in the woods. He pays no attention to the bear and the latter never offers to molest him—on the contrary, eats with evident satisfaction pieces of bacon and other scraps from the table that are thrown out to him. The bear is a handsome 800 pound fellow and appears to enjoy the company of the cattle.

Other pets are a pair of fawns that run around with the young stock on the place, eating with the calves and lying down among them as contented as though with their own kind. They evidently come from the vicinity of Cedar lake, where considerable hunting is done and from which section game is being driven. Mr. Gallagher says he had rather part with the best cow on his place than one of the fawns.

This is the second time fawns have taken up their abode at this place, the first pair coming there about five years ago and remaining with his stock for two years, even going into the stables and being locked up over night. He gave them to a neighbor, who in turn presented them to friends at Snohomish and up the Skagit.

This sounds fishy, but not only is it vouched for, but it is further said that wild ducks and geese alight in his yard and show no fear in his presence, though the appearance of a stranger is the signal for flight. Mr. Gallagher never hunts and will not allow hunting on his place nor interference in any way with his pets, either quadrupeds or winged.—Seattle (Wash.) Press-Times.

Danger in a Tin Pan.

Mr. John Siverly bought a half pound of powder, a pair of shoes and a new tin pan in Moulton this week. He put the powder and shoes in the pan on his wagon and started home, but before he had gone two blocks from where he made the purchase the powder exploded, burning him terribly. His hat was blown ten feet high, his clothes burned almost entirely from his body, and his face and arms burned as black as a negro's. There were only two persons on the wagon, neither of whom smoked or had a match about his person. The conclusion is that the powder was ignited from the rays of the sun, concentrated to a focus by the tin pan. The sun was shining very hotly, and being thrown against the paper containing the powder by the bright inner side of the new tin, must have set the paper on fire.—Mobile Register.

A Sugar Eat in Midsummer.

They had great times the other day in the quaint little village of Savoy, up in the Berkshire hills. Last spring Farmer Deming covered an immense snowdrift with hemlock boughs and sawdust, and a few days ago it was uncovered and utilized in a monster maple sugar "eat." The snow was as clean and white as when it fell, and generous quantities of the luscious bi—we mean maple sugar—were served to every one at the low price of twenty-five cents. Fun reigned supreme, and every one who has ever been present at a genuine New England sugar "eat" will regret that he was not one of Farmer Deming's guests the other day.—New York Tribune.

A $4,000,000 Bridge.

One of the longest and most costly railway bridges in the country is now being erected in the newest portion of the United States, almost at its extreme western boundary, the great steel bridge which the Union Pacific is building across the Columbia river at Vancouver, Wash. The length from the Washington to the Oregon shore will be 6,000 feet, and the draw pier will be over 400 feet long. The cost of the structure will be over $4,000,000.—Detroit Free Press.

A Boot and Shoe Museum.

One section of the great historical collection at Dresden is literally a museum of boots and shoes, being, it is believed, unequalled in the world as a repository for the footwear of celebrities. Among the things of interest shown are a pair of shoes worn by Martin Luther at the Diet of Worms, and the toilet slippers of the great Maria Theresa. In a sealed case are shown the boots worn by Napoleon at the battle of Dresden, and the jack boots of Peter the Great.—St. Louis Republic.

"August Flower"

Mrs. Sarah M. Black of Seneca, Mo., during the past two years has been affected with Neuralgia of the Head, Stomach and Womb, and writes: "My food did not seem to strengthen me at all and my appetite was very variable. My face was yellow, my head dull, and I had such pains in my left side. In the morning when I got up I would have a flow of mucus in the mouth, and a bad, bitter taste. Sometimes my breath became short, and I had such queer, tumbling, palpitating sensations around the heart. I ached all day under the shoulder blades, in the left side, and down the back of my limbs. It seemed to be worse in the wet, cold weather of Winter and Spring; and whenever the spells came on, my feet and hands would turn cold, and I could get no sleep at all. I tried everywhere, and got no relief before using August Flower. Then the change came. It has done me a wonderful deal of good during the time I have taken it and is working a complete cure."

CROOKEDNESS IN THE SAN FRANCISCO CUSTOM HOUSE.

The San Francisco custom house corps is excited. They are not, perhaps, in as great trepidation as the city boodlers, who dread the grand jury, but they are uneasy, nevertheless. It has been discovered that high-priced woolen goods have been appraised as cotton, and admitted upon the payment of one-tenth the duty fixed by law, and that tobacco, on which the duty is two dollars per pound, is appraised at thirty-five cents per pound. The difference to the Government on one consignment of tobacco is estimated to be over $100,000, and what the revenue has lost by reason of admitting high-priced woolen goods as cotton, has not yet been ascertained, but it will probably amount to many thousands of dollars. One appraiser, named Leavy, left for parts unknown. His last acts before taking his departure, and before his rascality was discovered, were to appraise the duty on a shipment of 24,535 pounds of Sumatra tobacco at $8,587, when it should have been $49,070; and to appraise another coassignment of 332 bales of tobacco at $15,000, when it should have been over $100,000.

It is not, perhaps, remarkable that the firms, which, through the connivance of dishonest officials, were defrauding the revenue, are advocates of a high tariff. So long as they could, by bribing appraisers, smuggle woolen goods through the custom house as cotton, and tobacco, on which the tariff is two dollars per pound, they had great advantages over importers, who did not understand "admission, division and silence," and could well afford to contribute liberally to campaign funds to elect McKinley men to Congress, and to keep an Administration in power that would keep their friends in the custom house. The higher the tariff, of course, the more profit on smuggled goods, which paid only a small percentage of the duty, and the more the smuggler could contribute to buy votes to keep up the tariff to war figures.

Appraiser Leavy, who is only one of many, who, as Government officials, are engaged in the smuggling business, is an ardent Republican, a great admirer of McKinley, and by sharing the profits with the importers, could keep himself in favor with the Administration by cheerfully paying the assessments levied on Federal office holders, to keep the wicked Democrats in the minority.

THE COAL PRODUCT.

A Census bulletin just issued, shows that the coal product of the United States reached a total of 141,239,513 short tons in the Census year, and was valued at $160,226,223 at the mines, before any expenses for transportation were incurred. The product included 45,000,437 short tons of anthracite coal, worth $65,879,514, and 895,630,016 short tons of bituminous and lignite, valued at $94,346,809. The average value of all salable grades of anthracite at the mines, was $1.58 per ton, and of bituminous coal 90 cents per ton.

In 1880, the total coal product included 28,649,012 short tons of anthracite and 42,831,758 short tons of bituminous coal, the value of the entire product being $95,640,396. The product increased in quantity 97.57 per cent, and in value 67.52 per cent, during the decade.

The total number of persons engaged in the coal industry in 1890 was 299,559, and they received $109,180,938 in wages, an average of about $377 each per annum. As this includes the wages of Superintendents, foremen, etc., who receive good salaries, it is safe to assume that the wages of those engaged in mining and handling the coal, does not average $300 a year. It is said that the average wage of Pennsylvania coal miners is 81 cents per day, but in the Western States the wages are higher.

Richard Chute, who was fined for contempt for ignoring the subpoena of the San Francisco Grand Jury, was discharged by Judge Murphy on habeas corpus proceedings. Judge Murphy also decided that the grand jury impaneled by Judge Wallace is not legally constituted. The question will probably be submitted to the Supreme Court as the decision is a victory for the boodlers.

Judge Wallace, the presiding Judge of the Superior Court in San Francisco took pains to prevent the Grand Jury from being packed in the interest of the thieving rings which infest the city. For this he is roundly denounced by the Chronicle and Post, and the boodlers generally, and commended by the Examiner, Call and Bulletin.

General Boulanger, who at one time was accused of attempting to stir up strife in France, with a view of being made Dictator, committed suicide at Brussels last Monday at the grave of his mistress.

Serious complications are reported at Washington to have arisen between the Juntas Government in Chile and United States Minister Egan.

Chute Again Summoned.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 30.—A second subpoena from the Grand Jury summoning Richard Chute to appear as a witness was served upon the latter to-day just after his release by Judge Murphy, who decided that Chute was not in contempt by refusing to answer the summons in the first instance. Judge Murphy will shortly be served with a subpoena to appear before a body whose legality he has just passed upon, and will have an opportunity in his own person to prove the soundness of his decision.

On the personal assurance of Creed Raymond, his counsel, that Stephen T. Gage, Director of the Southern Pacific Company, would appear on Friday next to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt for also failing to answer the subpoena of the Grand Jury, Presiding Judge Wallace to-day continued until that date the attachment for Gage which was returnable to-day, but which had expired before the latter could be found.

Attack at San Quentin.

Special to the Journal.

SAN QUENTIN, September 30.—This morning, while Charles Bachman, C. C. Sullivan and Charles Irwin, three convicts who had plotted to escape from prison, were waiting inside of the main gate to be transferred to Folsom, they attacked George Welles, young convict who brought arms into prison for them and afterward confessed to the warden. Bachman and Sullivan sprang upon Welles, tearing at his throat and grasping his head tried to wrench it from his shoulders. The guards were summoned and with difficulty succeeded in getting Welles away from his attackers. Welles was badly bruised and would undoubtedly have been killed if the convicts had possessed anything in the way of a weapon.

No Revolution.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 30.—The steamer City of Sidney arrived here to-day from Panama, via Guatemala. She left Guatemala September 16 and at that time revolution was imminent. R. Souza, a merchant of Guatemala, and who has just come from there, says there was no revolution there and no probability of one until after the election, which occurs in December.

Another passenger said that the rumor of a revolution probably grew out of a drunken fight which occurred about September 15. He thought it might have occurred from the celebration of their independence day, but did not know any particulars.

The San Francisco Ordered Back to Chile.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, September 30.—An order was issued this afternoon for the cruiser San Francisco, then at Payta, Peru, to proceed immediately to Callao and thence to Valparaiso. Secretary Tracy declined absolutely to give the reason for sending the ship back and refuses to discuss the case. Still there is reason to believe no further overt acts have been committed by the Junta and that the return of the San Francisco to Chile is simply to give moral effect to Minister Egan's position.

Custom House Frauds.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 30.—The frauds recently discovered by the custom house officials in the shipments to the firm of Neuberger, Reiss & Co. were made all the blacker yesterday when another consignment was opened. This consignment consisted of four cases invoiced as "cotton goods." The firm refused to make an entry for them at the custom house, and to-day they were ordered seized as unclaimed goods and opened. One of the cases was found properly invoiced and was evidently meant to be sent to the appraiser's store for examination. To do this some attaché of the custom house must be in collusion with the firm. The other cases contained about $4,000 worth of woolen goods, silks, cassimeres, silk velvets, bengaline and black satin. They were shipped from Paris.

Called Up for Contempt.

Special to the Journal.

SAN BERNARDINO, September 30.—Judge Ross of the United States Circuit Court has summoned the City Trustees and the police force in this city to appear before him on the 31st, to show cause why an attachment should not be issued against them, and that they be punished for contempt of court for interfering with the running of the Southern California motor road on the 8th day of last August. The motor road is in the hands of Receiver J. H. Polk, who was appointed by Judge Ross.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., September 30.—The First National Bank of Clearfield closed its doors this morning. The cause was an unprecedented run on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday. It is thought that the bank will pay in full.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address,

This shows the appreciation in value in Reno. It is said that no person ever purchased a lot in Powning's Addition, that cannot sell it for more than the price paid.

A PIUTE'S TROUBLE.

His Wife Elopés With a Pale Face. The Sacramento Bee says a Piute brave is in trouble because his wife deserted him. He says he is indifferent about the return of the woman if only his own life is secured. He fears to return to his own people without her because he will be condemned to death. "The brave," says the Bee, "came down from Nevada with his wife and several hundred other Piutes to pick hops. While thus engaged with a number of white men, the woman disappeared with one of the Caucasians. The companions of the bereft husband have returned to their sagebrush haunts but he lingers, for elopements are not recognized in the untried code of ethics, and he says he will be murdered if he dares to return without her."

THE HORN CASE.

James L. Conroy on the Stand—The State Rests.

The District Court convened at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning, Judge Cheney presiding, and all being present, the Horn case was proceeded with. The State called Al. White, who testified that he was the owner of the faro game that had been robbed.

They then called James L. Conroy, the dealer of the game, from whom the money was taken. He testified in substance as follows: My name is James Conroy; I am a faro dealer for Al White; was engaged in that business last April on the night of the robbery; I know Horn by sight; I saw him in the club room on several occasions before, at which times he was playing, and won small sums of money; at another time he lost a few dollars; he came in with one Maxey Sweeny, a man about town, who calls himself a gambler.

SCENE AND EVENTS OF THE ROBBERY.

In reply to a request of District Attorney Jules to describe the scene and events of the robbery, Witness Conroy said: "I was sitting at the table at the time the robbery occurred; I had the money partially piled upon the table; Dr. Bergstein came up the stairway; I saw him as he came up; I think on the second stair; I supposed that he was coming up to play, and informed him that the game was closed; he said that it made no difference, as he could play as well at any other time; the game was very quiet that night, so we closed early; Dr. Bergstein remained a little while talking; he started to go down the stairs, and as he started down I saw him smile, and wondered why he did it; I had just made up a stack of money, and looking up saw Dr. Bergstein coming back again; just after he came in the room I saw a man with a mask on and a pistol in his hand come in; I could not imagine what he meant, but when I saw him advance to the table masked, I thought he was bent on robbery; I asked him what he wanted, and he simply replied 'ugh,' 'ugh'; he took a pile of money, put it in his pocket, and then took the stack of $400 and did likewise, at the same time making a polite bow, backed off to the head of the stairs and retreated down; after he had gone down the stairs four or five steps he turned slightly and looked back and raised the mask so that I could see a part of his face, one side from the eye down." Witness illustrated to the jury the manner in which he had the mask on.

Question. Did you recognize the man who committed the robbery?

Answer. Yes.

Q. Have you ever seen him since?

A. Yes.

Q. Is that man in this room now?

A. Yes.

Q. Who is it?

A. Mr. Horn.

On cross examination Mr. Wines, of the counsel for defense, examined witness closely on all points brought out in the examination in chief. He acknowledged that in identifying this man he was enabled to do so by the fact that he had seen him before, and not from any thing he recognized about the robber.

Mr. Conroy's examination occupied the entire forenoon, and at

THE AFTERNOON SESSION.

The first witness called was S. W. Upson, who testified to the arrest and search of the prisoner at the Justice Court.

William Crews testified that defendant lost about $48, mostly in greenbacks, the day before the robbery at the game in which he was dealer, and won about $8 at another time.

Mr. Krasak, the tailor, was called, and testified to the kind and color of clothes worn by the defendant the day before the robbery. On cross examination by Mr. Wines witness was badly confused, and his memory failed to recall much of value. He testified that the similarity of things consisted mainly in the fact that they were different.

After a searching cross examination witness was allowed to go.

The testimony of Officer Richard Nash, owing to his illness, was stipulated to the short-hand notes taken at the previous trial.

The State offered in evidence the pistol, and mask and $272 20 in money found on defendant's person.

The first evidence introduced by the defense was in the form of depositions which had been taken in Arizona and New Mexico, where Horn formerly lived. Among the depositions was that of General Nelson A. Miles, which was a high testimonial of his honesty, efficiency and bravery while connected with the Indian service in Arizona. The other depositions were from prominent men in Arizona, ex-Sheriffs, U. S. Marshals and Judges. All tended to the same point, and were to the effect that Horn was always well and favorably known as an honest and upright citizen, upon whom there had never been attached the slightest suspicion in any way. The deposition of Miss Mollie M. Cooper, cashier of the agency at Denver, was read, showing his financial condition.

The defense then read the testimony of Richard Nash, which had been stipulated in by both parties, as taken from the reporter's notes at the last trial. It was an account of the arrest and subsequent events relating to it.

Lieutenant J. M. Neal was then placed on the stand, and testified as follows: I am a commissioned officer in the U. S. Army, now stationed at the State University: was formerly stationed in Arizona at Fort Bowles; was acquainted with Mr. Horn, who was a chief of scouts under his command; that he knew his general reputation and had a personal acquaintance with him; that his reputation was good and that he never heard anything derogatory to him.

Colonel Maxson was the next witness. He testified that he lived in Arizona in the early '80, and knew Horn and knew his reputation to be good.

Wm. Caughlin, Jerry Caughlin and W. O. Hill were also examined by the defense. J. S. Miller was examined, and gave a minute description of a number of men that he saw down by the engine house, and that they were scheming and plotting to do somebody up; that they boarded a train soon after the robbery. He gave a straightforward story, and his testimony, after a critical cross examination, was in no way shaken by Woodburn.

The house was well filled, and the public seem to manifest considerable interest in the trial.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.
Commissioner Haines Says Nevada Will be in it.

Hon. J. W. Haines, World's Fair Commissioner from Nevada, tells the San Francisco newspaper reporters that though the bill for an appropriation of $25,000 had been defeated in the Nevada Legislature, the State will be represented at the World's Fair. The Examiner reports him as saying:

"As for Nevada we intend getting together as fine a lot of ores as can be procured anywhere. We think, in fact, that Nevada will lead in ores. Besides this, we shall have a large exhibit of cereals, fruits and vegetables. In all these we can make a fine showing. There is no better fruit raised anywhere than we have this year in the Carson Valley. Other valleys stand forth almost equally prominent. It is so with the grain and vegetables. Nevada has advanced so rapidly in agriculture that we have no fears whatever as to what we can do.

"As for the $25,000, or thereabouts, that we will need, we have received assurances that the next Legislature will appropriate it, and meantime several of us have decided to advance what is necessary to start it. Farmers will deliver the fruit and grain at the railroad free of charge. The exhibit at the State Mining Bureau of ores, with what Superintendent Thomas of the Sutro Tunnel, and various others will have, will make an exceedingly creditable exhibit in a mining way. These will be delivered free at the railroad, and the railroad will give us at least a half-rate, and I believe eventually a free rate of transmission. So after all we will have a good exhibit.

"We do not intend to erect a building for Nevada at Chicago, but will use part of the main building or an annex. The Coast Geological Survey people reported—and it was republished not long ago by our State Immigration Board—that we had in six valleys from 6,000,000 to 7,000,000 acres of fine agricultural land that could be irrigated by the storage system at one dollar an acre. We want this known to the world, and we want people to settle on this land. There is no better way as a starter than to be well represented at the World's Fair."

THE ORMSBY DISTRICT FAIR.

A Good Day's Sport Yesterday.

The Tribune says: Notwithstanding that Tuesday was one of the most disagreeable days ever seen in Carson, there was a large and enthusiastic attendance at the track.

The first race, a 1/4-dash for runners, was won by Zaldivar, beating Regna and Dr. Ross. Time, 1:02%.

The one and one-sixteenth mile handicap was won by the favorite, Nevada, Almost second and Idaho Chief last.

It took five heats to decide the 2:22 class trot, for which Victor, Hylas Boy, Vidette and Maul Patchen were entered. Hylas Boy was a strong favorite to start off with, but Victor took the first heat with such ease that he became a hot favorite.

Victor took the second heat, and then, no doubt to help the pool box, his driver and owner permitted Hylas boy to take the third heat. It was such a palpable throw-off that Chamberlain fined Doherty $25. The fourth heat was won by Hylas Boy on merit, but Victor took the final heat and race with ease. Best time, 2:28

In yesterday's race Ragua won the 1/4 mile dash running race, Idaho Chief second, Joe third. Time, 1:10%.

The mile dash running race was won easily by Del Mar, Tom Stacy second, Idaho Chief third. Time, 1:46.

The 11-16 mile dash was won by Wild Oats after a most exciting finish, Vince second and Kilgariff third. Time, 1:11%.

In the trotting 2:40 class, Flora Bell won the first heat, Box took the second, Esmeralda the third and Box the fourth heat, after which the race was postponed until 12 o'clock to-day. The best time made was 2:37%.
